Earnings Threshold 101 video

Romelo Wilson, Education Communications Advisor, Emmi Navarro, Deputy Director of Education Communications, Michelle Dimino, Director of Education

The number one reason students pursue higher education is to earn more money than they would without. But what happens when institutions don't hold up their end of the bargain? Congress recently introduced a commonsense measure through the One Big Beautiful Bill Act to hold colleges and universities accountable for their outcomes. Learn more our latest animated video.
